Title Of Your Paper

Author 1
Author 2
etc.

May 3, 2017

Abstract

An abstract typically has in between 150 and 300 words and very briefly summarizes the overall hypothesis, the data, the methods, the results, and discussion. The overall paper should have around 2000-4000 words. The deadline for project report submission is 31.07.2017.

1 Introduction

Briefly introduce the literature surrounding your topic/hypothesis. What would you expect to find according to the literature? This is not an extensive literature overview, just choose the papers/articles which are directly relevant for your hypothesis.

2 Data

Describe the data you have gathered to test the given hypothesis. Mention databases, specific caveats of sampling, the sample available. Tipp: Tables can help to illustrate the data structure.

3 Methods

How are you going to test the hypothesis based on the data? Can you use simple percentages, do you need correlations, specific statistical tests? Tipp:

it might help to give a simple example to illustrate the method.

4   Results

Report the results of your analyses. This is a factual report, make sure to not put too much of the interpretation in this section. Tipp: Figures and Tables help to illustrate even complex outcomes.

5   Discussion

This is the section where you discuss your results with regards to the original hypothesis. Has it been corroborated/falsified? What are the potential reasons for why it might be false/true?

6   Contributions

In the case of several Bachelor students working together please indicate who was responsible for writing which section.